Program Description

The transitional residential treatment program is designed to empower each woman to develop the life skills and resources they need to achieve economic and emotional independence while maintaining a crime-free and drug-free lifestyle. The program incorporates specific strategies that address many of the participants' trauma and co-occurring mental health issues.

Outpatient treatment program

Community Connection Program is an intensive AODA outpatient clinic that empowers women and their families to experience and gain a healthy and strong connection with their community. This program strives to bridge the service gaps identified in the community through a comprehensive implementation of the wraparound service delivery philosophy.
